

Why do people need an app when they can just navigate to the webpage? (AskVoat)

by Caesarkid1

Hell you can even put an icon on your "app wall" or whatever you want to call it for you to just press to bring you to the website.

Or are websites just so fundamentally broken so as to be unusable on mobile now?

72 comments

want to join the discussion? login or register in seconds.

sort by: New Bottom Intensity Old

Sort: Top

[−] varialus 48 points (+48|−0) 6.6 hours ago

So that people have the opportunity to unknowingly donate their personal information leaked via unnecessary app permissions. It'd be a huge hassle for people to leak all that information without an app. I don't understand how people managed before smart phones.

permalink

[−] Atomized_Individual 10 points (+10|−0) 5.5 hours ago

Free open source apps: <https://f-droid.org>

permalink parent

[−] middle_path 1 points (+1|−0) 2.4 hours ago

Can I get a quick rundown on this for a complete pleb like myself?

permalink parent

3 replies

[−] voltronsdicks 2 points (+6|−4) 5.7 hours ago (edited 5 hours ago)

At this point in history, most Americans consider electricity to be a natural resource like rain water or wind and could never conceive of it going away in the blink of an eye. At least until there's a blackout. But even then it's only temporary and the lights eventually come back on.

One day they won't come back on, but by then it will be too late.

Same with smartphones and internet-based technology that many people in this generation were born into. As a society, we've normalized better technology as the solution while removing accountability from the equation. We're trying to circumvent error and its accompanying shame with static algorithms and their accompanying infantilization of society.

permalink parent

[−] WhiteRonin 16 points (+16|−0) 6.9 hours ago

It's a great way to make money off companies.

I've told lots of companies to not make apps because responsive webpages are way easier and more bang for your development dollar.

Some apps though wouldn't work in a web page.

permalink

[–] Caesarkid1 [S] 45 points (+45|-0) 6.9 hours ago

It's almost like people have been brainwashed to demand apps so that companies could collect more precise user data including everything else on their phone.

permalink parent

[–] ThirteenthZodiac 23 points (+23|-0) 6.7 hours ago

This is so stupidly accurate, you have no idea.

permalink parent

[–] Mumbleberry 10 points (+10|-0) 6.8 hours ago

Bingo.

permalink parent

[–] Hyperboreans 6 points (+6|-0) 5.5 hours ago

\thread.

And you're the OP. Way to make all the comments redundant.

permalink parent

1 reply

[–] Boris 5 points (+5|-0) 6.1 hours ago

There's an unofficial craigslist app that let's me search multiple cities at the same time. This is very useful for me since I'm in between metropolitan areas.

permalink parent

[–] vastrightwing 2 points (+2|-0) 5.4 hours ago

Sure. You can do the same thing using duck duck go. Search "site:craigslist.org bla bla"

That will search across all their sites.

permalink parent

1 reply

[–] PraiselPU 1 points (+1|-0) 6.1 hours ago

The people that run cl are kinda evil.

They actively seek and destroy anyone that tries to make cl more useful.

They are anti app and anti change.

permalink parent

1 reply

[–] WhiteRonin 0 points (+0|-0) 3.2 hours ago

Hmm. I should look for that but when I check other localities I never end up with decent hits.

permalink parent

[–] PuttItOut 11 points (+11|-0) 6.2 hours ago

Porting existing sites to be mobile friendly is a cost and complexity concern so there is always that.

Most apps are not necessary, but there are certain times they are more justifiable or necessary and this usually is related to the desired integration with the phone sensors and hardware (think of a jogging/running app that calculates route and elevation then displays using maps).

I control a home stereo receiver via the manufactures app for example.

When I hear that an app is necessary I use amazon.com as an example of a website that is so mobile friendly that you think it's an app when using it (even though amazon also has apps). You can do a lot with a mobile website these days.

What isn't ever justifiable is the basic monopoly on distributing apps. You buy the hardware, but then you are restricted from installing only approved apps. This closed environment is criminal.

permalink

[–] fuckinghell 4 points (+5|-1) 6 hours ago (edited 5.9 hours ago)

App's are just frontends for mobile websites in quite a few cases.

permalink parent

[–] viperguy 0 points (+0|-0) 4.9 hours ago

ALEX JONES APP played audio as a background process, so your iPhone and Android acted like a radio while you surfed, checked email, etc.

WEB SITES CANT PLAY AUDIO IN THE BACKGROUND VERY LONG WHEN IN BACKGROUND.

YOU NEED AN APP

Poor alex jones app banned 3 days ago by apple (the world famous Info Wars app)

goddamned Apple

permalink parent

3 replies

[–] squishysquid 0 points (+0|-0) 1.1 hours ago

less of a cost and complexity concern than green fielding a thick client.

permalink parent

[–] totes_magotes 8 points (+8|-0) 5.9 hours ago

Because apps can get device data that javascript cannot.

permalink

[–] SquarebobSpongebutt 5 points (+5|-0) 6.6 hours ago

Some apps add actual value to the site. For example, let's take a theoretical voat app. The app might provide popups to perform certain actions, provide "neverending voat", notifications when you get a response/message and allow response right from the notification. It could have an option to use lower res versions of images unless you click the HD button. Any of these might provide value. Problem is most sites do not have a good API for apps to use and the apps wind up being little more than a container for the mobile site.

permalink

[–] HillBoulder 7 points (+7|-0) 6.5 hours ago

Neverending voat

Sounds like a cell with no key. I love this place for what it is but if I spend too much time here it can make me convinced I'm going to get shot by a nigger every time I go out in public.

permalink parent

[–] Dark_Shroud 4 points (+4|-0) 6.2 hours ago

I live in the Chicago area, I could get shot by a nigger a few miles from my home.

permalink parent
1 reply

[–] SquarebobSpongebutt 3 points (+3|-0) 6.5 hours ago

Luckily voat craps the bed after 20 pages. ;)

permalink parent

[–] viperguy 1 point (+1|-0) 4.9 hours ago

WEB SITES CANT PLAY AUDIO IN THE BACKGROUND
VERY LONG WHEN IN BACKGROUND.

Alex Jones Info Wars played audio in the background all the time you wanted it to, but required an APP to allow that trick. A BANNED app as of 3 days ago.

permalink parent

[–] TheTrigger 4 points (+4|-0) 6.4 hours ago

'cause using a web browser is haaaaard, uuuuggghhhh... What are you, a geek?

permalink

[–] skywalker7777 -1 point (+0|-1) 4.7 hours ago

Because using a web browser is hard

It is compared to Boats

permalink parent

[–] kalgon 4 points (+4|-0) 6.4 hours ago (edited 6.4 hours ago)

Navigation is often shitty, typing a fucking url is often a pain in the ass, you have a lack of addons such as adblockers for chrome for instance, maybe firefox I don't remember, maybe this has changed since but I believe it's still shit, so you take ads full in your face, then you have the perms issues, the browser layer eats like 50% of the computing power, sometimes it's not a problem, sometimes it is, full screen is managed like total garbage, often completely absent except if the said site propose a fullscreen button, while often absolutely necessary due to screen sizes not leaving much rooms to display anything

It "just works", a tad too just, in many instances

permalink

[–] fuckinghell 2 points (+2|-0) 6 hours ago

Brave is a great option for a browser with built in adblock and anti-tracking.

I tend to avoid apps myself, the only caveat is that Brave will break certain websites due to the adblock/anti-tracking, so I just avoid those sites.

permalink parent

[–] Hand_of_Node 0 points (+0|-0) 3.3 hours ago

Most sites are broken when I arrive, due to my strict scrip-blocking preferences. Also rarely use mobile.

permalink parent

[–] C_Corax 2 points (+2|-0) 5.7 hours ago

I solved that problem long ago. I stuck with Nokia and I don't go on the internet when I'm on the move. One battery charge last 2-3 weeks!

permalink

[–] thelma 2 points (+2|-0) 5.8 hours ago

I still don't know what an "app" is....

'course I don't have a cell phone.

permalink

[–] Hand_of_Node 0 points (+0|-0) 3.1 hours ago

Data-mining programs for your phone for companies to track everything you say and do, with an overlaid entertainment layer as a "shiny".

permalink parent

[–] GoodGodKirk 2 points (+2|-0) 5.9 hours ago

THANK YOU FOR SAYING THAT.

People have been retarded lately about the Apple store. Like it's THE only way to get things to Apple users.

Obviously none of them are developers...

permalink

[–] Drowpic 2 points (+2|-0) 5.9 hours ago

Also keeps me wondering.

One explanation probably is that you do not have to remember links or keep bookmarks. You just open the app and there it is! Even if it is just a mobile Web page displayed to you by PhoneGap.

permalink

[–] YoHomie 2 points (+2|-0) 6 hours ago

Because some people can't wipe their ass without an app.

permalink

[–] Hand_of_Node 0 points (+0|-0) 3.2 hours ago

Please allow location for enhanced Wi-Ping™.

permalink parent

[–] wakkablam 2 points (+2|-0) 6.1 hours ago

Sometimes apps provide additional value, like the ability to show notifications when the app is not running in foreground. Think of an app like ebay being able to tell you when an auction is about to end. Also, a third-party app might be able to supplement the user experience by injecting additional scripts into a page, something that is easier to do than trying to convince your typical user to install greasemonkey and a bunch of scripts.

Recent "innovations" to the web although are starting to bridge the gap between native apps and simple web pages. Some browsers like Chrome support features such as running in background or sending you "push" notifications while the browser is "closed". Such web features depend a lot on browser support, so most phones still don't support said features.

permalink

[–] squishysquid 0 points (+0|-0) 1.1 hours ago

I have never seen a background notification of value.

permalink parent

[–] Alopix 2 points (+3|-1) 6.2 hours ago

websites are getting extremely slow and shitty, but that's to cater to phones no, every website wants you to install their app so their app can vacuum up your personal information and sell it. It was never about need. It was never a service to the user. Sites sometimes actively try and prevent you from seeing the website on a phone to force app use

permalink

[–] squishysquid 1 points (+1|-0) 1.3 hours ago

But don't you want to download the double plus good reddit app.

permalink

[–] DestroyerOfSaturn 1 points (+1|-0) 2.4 hours ago

Because they're untermensch.

permalink

[–] RaptorJesus 1 points (+1|-0) 3 hours ago

Zoomers use apps.

permalink

[–] lord_nougat 0 points (+0|-0) 2.5 hours ago

You know because you are one aren't you!!

Doxing RaptorJesus!

permalink parent

[–] muffalettdiver 1 points (+1|-0) 3.3 hours ago

I use browser....on my fucking Google phone....

permalink

[–] MinorLeakage 1 points (+1|-0) 3.5 hours ago

I also hate the "mobile version" of every site. I leave my browser set to "request desktop site".

permalink

[–] HeavyBeefCurtain 1 points (+1|-0) 4.4 hours ago

Retards who need to be spoonfed.

permalink

[–] Ina_Pickle 1 points (+1|-0) 4.5 hours ago

People are retarded.

permalink

[–] CowboyXero 1 points (+1|-0) 4.8 hours ago

Fact: Bandwidth over the network.

It takes far less bandwidth to pull up the app and navigate through that than it does to run the full website on a mobile device. Granted, there are exceptions to the rule but, for the most part, that's it.

The thing about mobile devices is that you can still get "banned" apps. Hack. Your. Phone. You can hack an iPhone to put any version of Android on it.

I actually have the InfoWars app on my current phone. I got it before it was banned from the app store. Do I tune in? Not really. Again, I didn't like when Alex Jones decided he was going to be a gatekeeper but I am a subscriber to Caravan To Midnight, another app that I have and I do listen to that regularly. If you like InfoWars even just a little bit, you'll love CTM. John B. Wells, in my opinion, is a far more suitable personality to convey information. Even at his most intense he's still not as unhinged as Jones. I'd recommend him before I recommend Jones.

Still, want those banned apps? Hack your phone and seek them out. Do so at your own risk though.

permalink

[–] TrueAmerican 1 points (+1|-0) 5 hours ago

So they can install spyware on your phone

permalink

[–] hermes3xx 1 points (+1|-0) 5.3 hours ago

Some web sites load much faster through an app than with a mobile browser.

permalink

[–] Dial_Indicator 1 points (+1|-0) 6.1 hours ago

its just kickbacks on cash made from cell phone sales

permalink

[–] 30MagazineClip 1 points (+1|-0) 6.2 hours ago (edited 6.2 hours ago)

It's a matter of statistics. A certain percentage will prefer to use the app and a smaller percentage will only use the app. It's all about marginalization. If the deep state marginalizes enough outlets then it maintains a better chance of staying in control.

permalink

[–] Dougal_McHaggis 0 points (+0|-0) 3.3 hours ago (edited 3.3 hours ago)

Because apple.

Fuck apps they are gay.

permalink